

when the house
is quiet

kirsten jones neff

In her prize-winning collection of poems, When The House Is Quiet, Kirsten Neff has given us light These poems gleam and surprise with the beauty of their language and the power of close observation as a woman explores the permutations of family. Ms. Neff uses the lens of memory to capture breathtaking moments of connection to her children, her husband, her landscape, her self. These are rich poems, worthy of repeated savoring.

~Catharine Clark-Sayles, author of Lifeboat

Kirsten Jones Neff is a filmmaker, a gardening teacher and a poet who lives in small rural corner of Marin County, California with her husband and three children.

Meet the author at

Island Books

Sunday, July 18th @ 5 p.m.

3014 78th Ave. SE Mercer Island WA
206.232.6920

when the house
is quiet

kirsten jones neff

In her prize-winning collection of poems, When The House Is Quiet, Kirsten Neff has given us light These poems gleam and surprise with the beauty of their language and the power of close observation as a woman explores the permutations of family. Ms. Neff uses the lens of memory to capture breathtaking moments of connection to her children, her husband, her landscape, her self. These are rich poems, worthy of repeated savoring.

~Catharine Clark-Sayles, author of Lifeboat

Kirsten Jones Neff is a filmmaker, a gardening teacher and a poet who lives in small rural corner of Marin County, California with her husband and three children.

Meet the author at

Island Books

Sunday, July 18th @ 5 p.m.

3014 78th Ave. SE Mercer Island WA
206.232.6920

